Florence L. Vanderbilt, B.S.
DIRECTOR OF RESIDENCE

DEDICATION

We have been inspired by Miss Vanderbilt and her deep and sincere interest in us. She has more than fulfilled her duties as Director of Residence and Student Health. We shall always remember her smile at our successes, her pleas on our behalf, and her concern for our problems.

With appreciation for her guidance, understanding, and unfailing spirit, we dedicate this Starch and Stripes of 1962 to Miss Vanderbilt.

*There will be time, there will be time
To prepare a face to meet the faces that you meet;*

Meet . . .

Indian summer that defies the calendar and itchy woolens . . . questioning eyes . . . a kind soul to lend you clothes until your trunk arrives . . . personality differences in look-a-like Blues . . . Time's protective blindfold pulled away . . . tea parties, mixers, movies on alternate Friday evenings, and hello to the T. G. . . . all walk to the Cloisters? . . . the dictatorship of an alarm clock . . . a tangle of equipment and hilarious misconceptions . . . the rustle of late-for-work in the tunnel . . . the Corner that liberally supplies everything from pizza to birthday cards . . . that first someone in the "snacker". . . other students who seem so self-assured . . . museums and skating rinks . . . the Village and its treasures—book stores, art nooks, theatre . . . the Philharmonic before dinner at midnight . . . the years of discovery.

Faces in time . . .

For walks by the river in late lovely autumn . . . for subway excursions to Queens by mistake . . . to stop at the door at 2:03 . . . to type until dawn the night before it's due . . . for three buzzes and anticipatory delight . . . to behold the skyline in silhouette, as dusk fades into black . . . to acknowledge the bolt of response to new people, new promises, hopes, and dreams . . . to meet friends with youthful ideals and sensitive spirits . . . to watch medicine in motion and know you're an integral part.

*And time yet for a hundred indecisions
And for a hundred visions and revisions,*

Visions and revisions . . .

A trimester of life at the Medical Center . . . a new building rises with unending din—steel, sweat . . . neurosurgery advances to a new ninth floor . . . expanding careers for nurses in research . . . the patient's reaction to hospitalization . . . well-being . . . the total person . . . the team approach . . . what are your own feelings? . . . the beauty of pure thought in a few free moments . . . reformed or amended, the nurse's personality . . . Ike beamed at some of us at the Waldorf . . . John F. Kennedy inaugurated; a New Frontier commenced in the face of world crisis . . . Glenn in space with the blessings of the nation upon him . . . the moving "Sound of Music" on Broadway . . . we read, we watched, we listened and discussed . . . now look forward with great expectations.

Arch-rivals meet: Columbia vs. Cornell!

"Holiday" for White Caps.

ACTIVITIES

Ike charmed Glee Club at fund-raising dinner at the Waldorf.

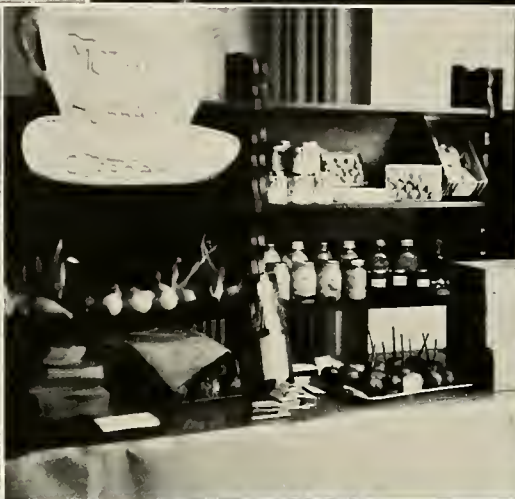

One of those rare occasions!

Darn it, just missed breakfast!

Ten hours later we profited $2,300.

Cape Cod or bust!

Make mine medium rare.

"Remove those festoons."

The line up!

Danger—instructors at play!

The big day at last!

Gee, I found it.

Hail! The hallowed halls!

What do you mean I'm in Bard Hall?

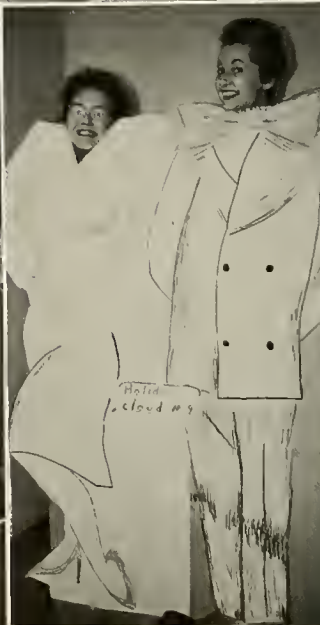

Saturday night with the girls.

Girls! We need more candids!!

M-A-L-E anyone?

News on 10 North.

California, here we come!

A dry martini?!

What do you mean, you found a cockroach?

The best kind of party.

Ah, since I came into nursing . . . legs and feet dressed in black . . . first time alone from 5:00 to 6:00 . . . restock the O. R. . . . got off at 12:40 a.m. and they wouldn't let me in the snackbar . . . just dial 271 . . . the glorious first six months with every weekend off . . . little sisters borrowing nutrition books and losing sleep over biochem . . . what Bard Hall discloses at first glance . . . and second . . . and . . . psychological aspects . . . this surely is different from college . . . feel the knitted knot of almost knowledge one day pre-exam . . . I can't; we haven't had that yet . . . five patients "on precautions" assigned to guess who . . . articulate medical terms like phenylpyruvic oligophrenia with fluency . . . face birth and death on a different plane.

First Year brings dedication and stripes.

Second Year celebrates with a Half-Way party.

George F. Crikelair, M.D.

Honorary Class Member

Now meet the Crikelairs. Nine strong, in all sizes, they create a bright spot in our class. By popular vote, into each class comes an honorary member who is asked to become a part of the group. We chose a gem when we selected Dr. George Crikelair. Crikelairs' talents range from being fun-type poets, jolly guests, and prolific class members to a sideline of plastic surgery. Dr. Crikelair has commented, "It's amazing how much you and yours have gotten to know me and mine in such a short time." This states perfectly how we feel about him and his. We offer our thanks for his time and sincere interest in the Class of '62.

Our "adopted family."

Class Adviser

Miss Eunice Messler came to the Medical Center in 1956, bringing with her a diversified background that ranged from designing missiles in New Jersey to studying Spanish in Mexico. Currently vying for her time are sports, cooking, and graduate courses at Columbia Teachers College. Miss Messler's nursing ability and personal warmth are acknowledged by the Class of 1962.

In a minute there is time . . .

To glance back over all those months—smiles, tears, and “good experiences” . . . to consider the progression from student to nurse . . . for feelings of professional inadequacy . . . for unbridled gaiety in senior splendor at the Hotel Pierre . . . that hard-earned diploma at last in hand . . . caps and gowns by the thousands getting wet at the Columbia commencement . . . the coveted “P.H.” pin and the implications of wearing it . . . to know to whom to say thank you . . . to set out armed with friends, knowledge, youth, stamina, forthrightness for . . . marriage, a home and family . . . more formal education . . . travel . . . for any or all we are prepared and eager.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY COMMENCEMENT

Bachelor of Science degrees were conferred by President Grayson Kirk at the Cathedral of Saint John the Divine with the traditional academic pomp. Achievement, pride, and hope for the future are ours as college graduates.

GRADUATION IN THE GARDEN

None will forget this day. Families and friends of the Class of 1962 looked on and shared the thrill of "Pomp and Circumstance," diplomas received, and faculty congratulations. Exuberant, but misty-eyed graduates wore their pins for the first time with best wishes from Miss Gill and Miss Pettit.
